VIII Study Day of INU - Policies for Italian Cities

- INU - Istituto Nazionale di Urbanistica | Italian National Institute of Urban Planning
- Department of Architecture, University of Naples

Naples, Italy

December 12th-13th, 2014

The VIII Study Day of INU will be mainly devoted to the 'Policies for Italian cities', with also a focus on the European ones. The crisis which is interesting the city and the environmental and socio-economic questions concerning the regeneration of urban forms make central the construction of an idea for the city of future. Similarly, it is possible to observe their technological innovation, the energy efficiency and the reduction of the natural and non-renewable resources. All these factors clarify the centrality of the urban topic in the government of the Country and the needs of a national politic, where combining suitable rules and tools, and resources in strategic areas.

On Saturday December 13th will be also delivered the "INU Planning Literature Award".

School of Architecture and Society | Politecnico di Milano

During the month of November, to celebrate its 150 year anniversary, the Politecnico di Milano will hold a series of public lectures held by the most noted and prestigious names in international architecture, who have been invited to share their visions and projects for Milan and for the future.

The series is created and curated by Stefano Boeri, Professor of Urban Planning at the Politecnico di Milano, with the participation of David Chipperfield, Grafton Architects, Arata Isozaki, Rem Koolhaas, Daniel Libeskind, César Pelli, Renzo Piano and Kazuyo Sejima.

International Workshops

MIAW – Milano Architecture International Workshop 'Re-forming Milan'

- School of Architecture and Society, Politecnico di Milano

Milan, Italy

September 29th - October 11th, 2014

MIAW 2014 is a series of workshops offered by the School of Architecture and Society and promoted in collaboration with the initiative 'Re-forming Milan'. The intention is to encourage a multi-scale and interdisciplinary approach to the architectural design. MIAW 2014 is an international forum which promotes comparisons between schools, teachers and students, but it is also an informal platform to discuss issues and to share the ambitions that the learning process of architectural design involves.

In this sense the initiative follows the path of the commitment of the School of Architecture and Society to be a place of preparation and experimental design on the issues of the city of Milan and its metropolitan area and discussion on these issues with the public and with the civil society.

DAStU | Department of Architecture and Urban Studies, Politecnico di Milano

Research seminars

"Abitare Condiviso"

- DAStU - Department of Architecture and Urban Studies
- School of Architecture and Society, Politecnico di Milano

Coordinated by: Massimo Bricocoli and Stefania Sabatinelli (DAStU)

In a time characterized by individualization, precarization and the crisis of welfare policies which were grounded on collective social protection systems, sharing is more and more a practice that is extensively pervasive in different domains of public action. The research seminars will critically discuss new policies and projects which have been developed with an explicit reference to sharing. The possibility of producing welfare through sharing practices depends very much on the possibility of combining different people and factors and on the possibility of producing new organizations - institutions - that can be both locally and community grounded but inclusive and open at the same time.

The next two seminars will be:

• October 9th, 2014

Territori della condivisione. Una nuova città dedicated to the research 'Territori della condivisione' coordinated by C. Bianchetti (DIST, Politecnico di Torino) and to the research's recent publication.

• October 16th, 2014

Milano, Francia, Svizzera, Argentina: Progetti, culture, esperienze di housing a confronto dedicated to new collective housing projects, with C. Magni and A. Bruzzese, S. Guidarini, P. Mazzoleni.

International Conference

52nd International Making Cities Livable Conference 'Achieving Green Healthy Cities' DEADLINE | October 31st, 2014

Bristol, UK

June 29th - July 3rd, 2015

The International Making Cities Livable Council is an interdisciplinary, international network of individuals and cities dedicated to making our cities and communities more livable. At this conference will be examined creative strategies, tools and design solutions for "Achieving Green Healthy Cities". At the conference will be reviewed how the built and natural environment can be designed and managed to increase social and physical health and well-being, and to foster ecological, social and economic sustainability: these goals cannot be achieved by professionals in one field alone. They require collaborative efforts and insights from many disciplines such as planning, public health, urban design, architecture, landscape architecture, transportation planning, and social sciences.

International Conference | Call for Papers VELO-CITY 2015 'Cycling Future Maker'

- ECF - European Cyclist Federation
- #### DEADLINE | October 31st, 2014

Nantes, France

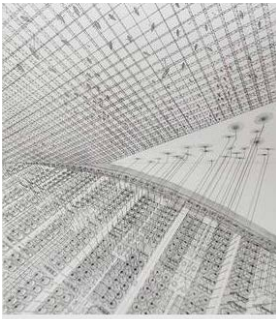

June 2nd - 5th, 2014

Velo-city is ECF's annual global summit on cycling: the Velo-city conference series serves as the major global platform for the exchange of visions, knowledge, expertise skills and good practice on cycling as part of daily transport and recreation and on cycling related policies. More specifically, Velo-city promotes the integration of urban cycle planning into all the relevant public policy sectors, including transport planning, land development, public health, education, environment, economy, energy and human rights.

International Student Competition & Exhibition

'Drawing of the Year 2014'

- Aarhus School of Architecture
- Schmidt hammer lassen architects
- VOLA

DRAWING OF THE YEAR 2014

• The Danish Arts Foundation
DEADLINE | November 21st, 2014

Aarhus, Denmark
December 5th - 31st, 2014

Drawing is seen as a media production and as the dissemination of thoughts and dreams. The recipient should be invited to wonder at, be moved by and be involved in drawing as a recognition and discussion of architecture. The competition is thus seen as an opportunity to demonstrate the potential for discussing and developing architectural ideas laid down on paper through the art of drawing. It is a celebration of the architects' oldest tool as a relevant media for developing ideas and communicating his craft. Drawings are exhibited at Aarhus School of Architecture in December 2014.

International Conference - Exhibition

SMART City Exhibition 2014 | Building the city of the future.

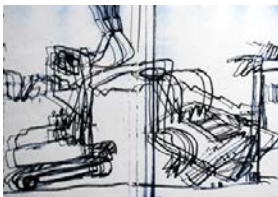

The challenge for urban innovation starts from the next 50 years

- Bologna Fiere
- Forum PA

Bologna, Italy
October 22th - 24th, 2014

The attention that the 3rd edition of SMART City Exhibition will address to governance and virtuous urban policies has started from the construction of a common workgroup with the Innovation Building Fair (SAIE): a Steering Committee with protagonists active in the realm of politics, public administration, territorial management and transformation, economy, finance, enterprises and active citizenship. A plural and multi-stakeholder group aiming to evolve in organic and concrete policies of transformation and governance the many ideas, projects and single initiatives alternated during the last years.

The merge of specific investors, in terms of expertise, experience and potential, will be the fuel to activate a reflection upon the drivers of development in the next 50 years for urban ecosystems, territories and infrastructures, public services, able to increase the quality of citizens' life, alongside the ongoing changes.

International Conference

Critical Geographies of Urban Infrastructure

- UGRG - Urban Geography Research Group
- Bartlett School of Planning, University College of London

London, UK

UGRG

November 6th - 7th, 2014

urban-geography.org.uk
RGS-IBG Urban Geography
Research Group

A two-day conference and open discussion organised by the Urban Geography Research Group taking place at the Bartlett School of Planning, UCL. This year's UGRG Conference will explore the relationship between critical urban theory and infrastructure. Since the publication of Splintering Urbanism (Graham and Marvin, 2001), there has been a heightened focus on employing critical urbanist perspectives to study the fundamental issues of urban infrastructure, of who gets what infrastructure and where? Such work has demonstrated the exercise of social and political power through infrastructural provisioning, and the challenges of governance which might bring about more inclusive and democratic forms of urban infrastructure (Boudreau et al 2009; McFarlane and Rutherford 2008; Spinney 2010; Swyngedouw 2005). Much work remains, however, in exploring the key dynamics through which infrastructure structures and restructures urban spaces.
